1. Structure and Functions of Council

1.1 Description

Port Stephens Council has a popularly elected Mayor and nine (9) Councillors, representing three (3) Wards; West, Central and East, across the Local Government area.

The Port Stephens Local Government Area (LGA) is located at the boundary of the Mid North and Central Coasts of New South Wales, and covers an area of 858.9 square kilometres. It is approximately 55 kilometres from east to west and 30 kilometres from north to south. Port Stephens extends north to Karuah, west to Duns Creek, east to Shoal Bay and southeast to Fern Bay and Hexham. The area contains prime agricultural land, valuable natural ecosystems and a high level of species diversity. The LGA has a substantial estuary system with a surface area of over 100 square kilometres, making it approximately three times the size of Sydney Harbour. The waterway lies at the junction of the Myall River Lakes System, Karuah River and the Pacific Ocean. The western half of the area is geographically dominated by the confluence of the Paterson and Williams Rivers with the Hunter River. The eastern portion of the LGA contains the Stockton Bight dune system, which extends for 32 kilometres, the largest unvegetated dune system in NSW.

1.2 Basis of Constitution

Port Stephens Council is constituted under the Local Government Act 1993.

1.3 Organisational structure and resources

Port Stephens Council is divided into (3) Ward, West, Central and East.

- Council is governed by the body of Councillors who are elected by the residents and ratepayers of the area. Section 223 of the Local Government Act 1993 states:

The Mayor chairs the meetings of the Council, carries out the civic and ceremonial functions of the office, exercises, in cases of necessity, the decision making functions of the body politic, between its meetings and performs any other functions that the Council determines.

The Principal Officer of the Council is the General Manager. The General Manager is responsible for the efficient operation of the Council's organisation and for ensuring the implementation of Council decisions. The General Manager is also responsible for the day to day management of the Council, the exercise of any functions delegated by the Council, the appointment, direction and where necessary, the dismissal of staff, as well as the implementation of Council's Equal Employment Opportunity Management Plan.

To assist the General Manager in the exercise of these functions, there are three (3) Groups of Council. These Groups are Corporate Services, Facilities & Services and Development Services, with a Group Manager responsible for each area. In addition to this, there is a small team that supports the General Manager with the functions of the General Manager's Office which includes governance, legal services, executive and councillor support and the Mayor's Office.

2. How Council functions affect members of the public

As a service organisation, the majority of the activities of the Port Stephens Council have an impact on the public. The following is an outline of how the broad functions of Council affect the public.

Service functions affect the public as Council provides services and facilities to the public. These include provision of human services such as child care services and libraries, halls and community centres, recreation facilities, infrastructure and waste management.

Regulatory functions place restrictions on developments and buildings to ensure that they meet certain requirements affecting the amenity of the community and not endanger the lives and safety of any person. Members of the public must be aware of, and comply with, such regulations.

Ancillary functions affect only some members of the public. These functions include, for example, the resumption of land or the power for Council to enter onto a person's land. In these circumstances, only the owner of the property would be affected.

Revenue functions affect the public directly in that revenue from rates and other charges paid by the public is used to fund services and facilities provided to the community.

Administrative functions do not necessarily affect the public directly but have an indirect impact on the community through the efficiency and effectiveness of the service provided.

Enforcement functions only affect those members of the public who are in breach of certain legislation. This includes matters such as the non payment of rates and charges, unregistered dogs and parking offences.

Community planning and development functions affect areas such as cultural development, social planning and community profile and involves:

- Advocating and planning for the needs of our community. This includes initiating partnerships; participating on regional, State or Commonwealth working parties; and preparation and implementation of the Community Strategic Plan.
- Providing support to community and sporting organisations through provision of grants, training and information.
- Facilitating opportunities for people to participate in the life of the community through the conduct of a range of community events such as Australia Day activities, NAIDOC Week, Youth Week, Children's Week, as well as promoting events of others.

3. How the public can participate in Council's policy development and the exercising of functions

There are two broad ways in which the public may participate in the policy development and, indeed, the general activities of the Council. These are through representation and personal participation.

3.1 Representation

Local Government in Australia is based on the principle of representative democracy. This means that the people elect representatives to their local council to make decisions on their behalf. In New South Wales, local government elections are held every four years.

At each election, voters elect councillors for a four year. All residents of the area who are on the electoral roll are eligible to vote. Property owners who live outside of the area and rate paying lessees can also vote, but must register their intention to vote on the non residential roll. Voting is compulsory.

Residents are able to raise issues with, and make representations to, the elected councillors. The councillors, if they agree with the issue or representation, may pursue the matter on the resident's behalf thus allowing members of the public to influence the development of policy.

3.2 Personal participation

There are also avenues for members of the public to personally participate in the policy development and the functions of the Council. Several Council committees comprise or include members of the public. Some of these special committees or bodies are:
