One Mile Beach update | October 2021

We're upgrading Hannah Parade and the existing car park at One Mile Beach.

These works have been funded by the NSW Government's program Fixing Local Roads and will include:

- upgrading and resealing Hannah Parade, the entry road into One Mile Beach car park; and
- formalising the existing part sealed and part gravel parking area with asphalt seal and linemarking.

Project details

The extent of the formalised car park is shown over the page.

The works will involve the removal of around 3 trees. Each tree removed will be offset with 10 new trees at another location.

The works are designed to:

- improve safety for beach goers by providing clear vehicle and pedestrian zones;
- provide 50% more asphalt parking area;
- improve café forecourt area; and
- protect the nearby local vegetation on both Council and NPWS managed lands from vehicle access.

As part of the works we will also be constructing a drainage system to collect stormwater runoff from the car park and will also be undertaking an upgrade of the sewer system supporting the existing facilities in the immediate area.

As per Council's Strategic Asset Management Plan (SAMP) the existing toilet block is due for replacement in 2024/2025.

Timing

The works are now scheduled to begin after the 2021/2022 summer holiday period and be completed by the end of June 2022.

The works should take 6 to 8 weeks to complete.

During construction

Access to the beach and café will still be available during most of the works. However, on some key days access will be restricted depending on the work being undertaken, such as the final asphaltting.
